

MANY AUTOISTS TAKEN IN SUDDEN POLICE CAMPAIGN

Drivers, Resident and Tourist, Given Suspended Sentences By Monsarrat

NOTED MANUFACTURER SAYS SIGNS LACKING

W. R. Timken Points Out That Technical Traffic Rule Violation Could Be Avoided

A sudden campaign against autoists who drive on the wrong side of Kalakaua avenue, carried out by regular and specially detailed traffic policemen over Sunday, brought into police court this morning a large number of tourists as well as residents.

Pleading in most cases ignorance of the "right-hand drive" regulation and also pleading technical guilt, they were given 45 fines with suspended sentences of 13 months by Magistrate Monsarrat. But while they admitted they were on the wrong side of the boulevard, several of them declared that they were justified in taking the route they did, inasmuch as no signs point the way and the "right-hand drive" regulation is neither universal where autos are driven nor strictly observed in Honolulu.

Among those taken in the police drag-net yesterday morning is one of the best-known manufacturers of auto accessories in the United States, W. R. Timken of Canton, Ohio, head of the great Timken company which has a number of factories and makes axles and roller bearings. He has been here on a visit for three weeks, resting quietly, and will leave this week for the mainland.

When stopped by a traffic officer yesterday, Mr. Timken pointed out the absence of signs to warn visiting autoists, and when approached by a Star-Bulletin reporter this morning, he repeated his statement and suggested that as a matter of convenience to visitors, some such signs should be put up at each end of this much-traveled boulevard.

"How is a visitor to know he is transgressing your law?" he asked. "It is true that the right-hand drive is the rule in most mainland cities but not in all by any means. In many cities and towns where there is a large tourist traffic both sides are used. For instance, I have recently come for Coronado, and there on an avenue something like this of yours, driving is allowed on both sides."

"You get tourists here from all over the world and in European countries, in Cairo and elsewhere—in numerous places frequented by tourists—driving is allowed on both sides. Suppose these tourists come here. They see no signs, they see one side of the boulevard—it happened to be the left-hand side in my case yesterday—smooth and well-oiled; they see two many cars ahead of them going down the left-hand side. They take it for granted that it is permissible to drive on this side—and then they are arrested, as people were yesterday."

"Now, signs don't cost much. If Honolulu had a sign up 'Drive on the right-hand side of the law directs,' people would do it. They would obey the rule or if they didn't they might be arrested and made to serve a term in jail."

Regulation hasn't been enforced. Mr. Timken pointed out that since he has been here he has seen many autoists on the left side of the street and also that the sea-side of Kalakaua avenue has been put in good condition while the other side has not.

"Until both sides are kept smooth and oiled, the autoists will be tempted to take the left side coming down town," he emphasized.

His suggestions were made in no spirit of superiority, but he said, because he feels that many other visitors are situated as he is in respect to driving on the local streets.

"I'll admit that autoists as a rule drive too fast," he said. "I myself am not that fast but I hope that isn't the case," he said, concluding with a smile. Police satisfied.

Civilians and army men, tourists and residents, rich and poor, were represented in the flock of those called into the police court this morning as a result of the police campaign. The police say that the drivers should know that in an American community they must drive on the right side of the road. In view of the frequent violations of the rule on Kalakaua avenue, the police propose to make further arrests if necessary.

We are satisfied with the fine and suspension of sentence Judge Monsarrat is giving," Deputy Sheriff Aesch said. "It is a warning to the autoists that they must observe our rules and if they don't know what the rules are, they should acquaint themselves before driving here."

The names of those who violated the traffic ordinance, as they appeared on the police court calendar today, are as follows:

Capt. Hartshaw, W. R. Timken, C. A. Johnson, J. C. Kelly, Charles Pangalana, P. J. Reed, G. B. Carpenter, F. O. James, E. Crozier, S. C. Kennedy, Capt. Hinkle, Capt. McDonald, J. Guild, A. MAYO APPROVES BABY WEEK PLAN FOR THIS CITY

"If We Are to Save People We Must Begin With Babies," Says Noted Surgeon

Although he kindly but firmly refused to talk upon any other subject, Dr. Charles W. Mayo, one of the world-famous Mayo Brothers, surgeons, of Rochester, Minnesota, who arrived on the Great Northern this morning, gives his hearty approval of plans for a Baby Week in Honolulu, to reduce infant mortality in this city through a campaign of education.

"Although I do not know any details of the Baby Week campaign in Honolulu, I do know that similar efforts are being made throughout the United States," says Dr. Mayo, who is one of the most eminent surgeons in America.

"If we are going to save people we must begin with the babies. In the past they are doing it—in fact, over the entire country. In the saving of the lives of babies is where the greatest advance has been made in medicine in recent years."

"While medical science has been able to add a number of years to the average length of human life, this has been accomplished by the saving of children's lives, not adding years to the lives of adults."

Progress in 30 Years. "In the last 100 years the average length of human life has been extended from 12 to 20 years, varying according to the locality. It is in the last 30 years, however, that the most progress has been toward the saving of babies' and children's lives."

Dr. Mayo says this is his first trip to the islands, and that he and Mrs. Mayo are going to see as much of them as possible between now and Thursday night, when they will return to the mainland on the Great Northern. Dr. Mayo declared Kilaua volcano, which he saw yesterday, to be a magnificent sight.

The distinguished surgeon was met at Pier 6 this morning by the executive committee of the Medical Society of Hawaii, including Dr. E. D. Kilbourne, its president, and Dr. C. B. Wood, A. F. Jackson and A. G. Hodgins, also Maj. Matthew A. De Laney, Medical Corps, of the Department hospital here.

Dr. Mayo will be the guest of honor tomorrow night at the Country Club, when the Medical Society will entertain with a dinner in honor of himself and Mrs. Mayo. Dr. Mayo is staying at the Alexander Young hotel.

URGES JAPANESE TO JOIN BETTER BABIES SCHEME

"Healthy babies; healthy citizens!" is the slogan of the Nippon Jiji in the Better-Baby campaign. In an editorial yesterday, Y. Soga of the Nippon Jiji published an outline of the work of the committees throughout the country working for better babies, and in addition urged that the Japanese mothers and fathers follow out the plan as outlined.

He stated that fathers and mothers owe this much to the community that they work to make healthier citizens by using every precaution in saving the babies. He urged the Japanese people to join in the plan to make better citizens and healthy citizens, stating that this can only be done by making the baby the subject of great attention.

An article written by a prominent Japanese will be published each day, covering the many phases of the life of the baby. In these articles the writers will take up the work of what different communities have accomplished in promoting the Better Baby campaign.

COL. HOWELL TAKES COMMAND OF TROOPS

Lieut. Col. Daniel L. Howell of the 1st Infantry, until recently with the 2nd Infantry, arrived at Fort Shafter March 11 and took formal command of his troops at that post. The former commander was Col. Walter H. Chatfield, now retired.

Lieut. Sanders, Lieut. Baker, J. De-melo and Karamoto.

With the exception of C. A. Johnson, G. Togo, G. H. Buttolph and Col. Kenyon, sentence was suspended for a term of 13 months in each case. Continuance was asked for in the other cases. Buttolph, who was unable to be in court, asked Deputy City Attorney Chillingworth to plead guilty for him. The court, however, stated that it thought the defendant should be present, so the case was continued until tomorrow.

Veteran New Yorker and His Wife Are Still Active

PROFESSIONALS HARD TIME IN 1915

[By Associated Press]

NEW YORK. — That professional sport suffers periodical setbacks, no matter in what part of the world it is staged, is shown by recent events both in this country and England. Baseball is just emerging from a season of depression, financial and otherwise, in this country while in England soccer, which corresponds to baseball in the United States, is being subjected to an investigation and house-cleaning. Public interest in professional soccer has been seriously affected throughout the British Isles by disclosures which involved the honesty of some of the players. The facts were brought out at an inquiry conducted by the football league and the football association with the result that eight men were permanently barred from playing. Four of these professionals were members of the Liverpool Club, three belonged to the Manchester United Club and the other one played on the team of the Chester Club. No suspicion was attached to any officials of these organizations but it was proved that certain players conspiring to throw the game, placed bets on the match last season.

In England professional football—the association or soccer game—takes the place of professional baseball in the United States. Rugby is confined to colleges, and cricket corresponds to tennis so far as public interest is concerned. But the big association matches draw crowds of from 50,000 to 100,000 while there is no field large enough to accommodate the people at the final match for the English cup in times of peace. Like professional baseball, professional football has managed to keep an untainted reputation as a general thing. But in spite of heavy gate receipts, the British professionals are poorly paid and their small pay may have tempted the accused men to make a bit on the side by dishonest playing.

OMTVEDT JUMPS FOR RECORD AT STEAMBOAT STEAMBOAT SPRINGS, Colo., Feb. 19.—A new world's record for ski jumping was established here yesterday by Ragnar Omtvedt, a Chicago professional, who cleared a distance of 132-9-10 feet. This mark establishes also a new American record, exceeding by 23-9-10 feet Omtvedt's previous best mark.

The former world's record of 177 feet was made by Amle Omundsen of the University Ski Club of Christiania in Norway in February, 1915.

Lars Haugen of Chippewa Falls, Wis., won second place in yesterday's carnival by jumping 184 feet. Hoel-son, a Denver participant, was disqualified when he sustained a fall. Omtvedt's mark was made at the annual midwinter skiing carnival here. Several thousand persons assembled at the northwestern Colorado course to witness the performance. The weather was ideal for ski jumping.

SLIM CHANCE OF WILSON'S BEING ELECTED AGAIN

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis are staying at the Moana.

Mr. Curtis is one of the biggest publishers in America and by common consent of opinion one of the brainiest and most successful, both financially and in the broad results among the patronage of the newspapers and journals he owns and controls.

His full name is Cyrus Hermann Kotschmar Curtis, and he was born in Portland, Maine, in 1850. He comes from American stock and was educated in the public schools. He went to Philadelphia in 1876, became publisher of the Tribune and Farmer, later established and still publishes the Ladies' Home Journal. He is now head of the Curtis Publishing Company, which publishes the Ladies' Home Journal, the Country Gentleman and the Saturday Evening Post.

In January, 1913, Mr. Curtis entered the big daily publishing field by the purchase, together with John Gribbel, of the Philadelphia Public Ledger. Under his direction this noted Philadelphia paper has been making new strides.

He is known as a man of broad civic spirit and wide sympathies and is interested in many public affairs.

Mr. Curtis will be the guest of the Commercial Club at lunch tomorrow and the Ad Club on Wednesday and it is expected that he will give brief talks at both.

JOE JACKSON.

"I want the dope on Jackson," I told a baseball bug. "I want the feed-box chatter. Can Shoeless Joseph slug? Does he pull circus catches, or is he apt to miff? Do tell me ALL," I pleaded. "Slip me the inside story. When Joe starts stealing bases, oh, how is his technique? Does he make second standing, or come in on his back? At bat is he a waiter or does he slam away? Please give me ALL the info on Joseph Jackson, pray."

Quoth he, "Of Jackson's stealing there isn't much I hear. He may take second sitting, or slide in on his ear. I guess he's there at fielding and gets 'em in his mitt; but bo, there's one thing certain, this Jackson kid can hit. Of higher mathematics I guess he doesn't think. In fact, Phil Beta Kappa to Joe may mean a drink. I don't know his religion or if he would submit to being ruled by women but, gosh, how he can hit! I don't know Jackson's habits. He may be prompt or late. His whiff's a pretty good one; he cops 'em at the plate. About his training routine, I do not know a bit; but say, this Jackson baby is one guy who can hit." And when the bug had ended, I pondered what he said. It seems he wasn't certain what time Joe went to bed. Or if he liked the opera or sassed the ump's, but it was plain he knew for certain that SHOELESS JOE could HIT.—By W. F. Hofer.

He asked $5.40 apiece for them. Letters were received from other firms protesting against the specification of the Pemco brand, as it eliminated competition. Cables for prices to the manufacturing company brought the reply that Richardson had the exclusive right to sell the fixtures here, they stated.

EXCLUSIVE AGENT IS ONLY BIDDER; WANTS $5.40 FOR LIGHTS

F. E. Richardson was the only man to submit a bid for 500 Pemco electric light fixtures wanted by the city. It was ascertained when the bids were opened by the county clerk this noon.
